Coleman Teams Cop Prizes at Blairmore 'Spiel

The Junior Bunny 'Spiel wound up in the Blairmore arena Sunday night with the Bert Daye rink of Turner Valley taking top honors in the first event.

The three-day 'spiel, sponsored by the students of the Isabelle Sellon school saw 32 rinks from Turner Valley, Fort Macleod, Pincher Creek, Granum, Michel and Fernie, B. C., Bellevue, Frank and Coleman take part in the very enjoyable affair.

Draw master for the affair was Reno Bosetti, assisted by Roger Weston. A well attended banquet was held in the school meeting room on Saturday evening with the ladies of the Curling Club and mothers of the students catering at the affair.

Winner of the door prize at the banquet was the Bob Williams rink of Blairmore, who each received pens. The winners of the four events were all presented with the prizes by High School Curling Club President David "Joey" Chabillon who expressed his thanks to all the visiting teams for having attended the affair. He also expressed thanks to merchants who sponsored prizes for the annual 'spiel.

James Glendenning Feted At Farewell Gathering

Some 60 friends of James Glendenning gathered in St. Paul's United Church club rooms in Coleman on Sunday evening following Church service to bid a well known old-timer farewell.

Mr. Glendenning will leave Coleman in the near future to take up residence with a sister in Calgary.

During the evening the guests enjoyed a social evening with a vocal solo being rendered by Miss Judy Coover, accompanied by pianist Weslyn Dunford.

A singing-song was also enjoyed after which Mr. D. B. Young of Coleman, called on Mr. Glendenning, and on behalf of all present gave him a lovely framed oil painting of Crows Nest Mountain, done by Gertrude Tass.

In expressing his appreciation for the reminder of the Pass, Mr. Glendenning reminisced on old times in the Pass. He came to Coleman in 1904 and worked in the mines here for many years before his retirement.

At the conclusion of the evening a lunch was served by the Women's Association.

Coleman Old-timer Passes March 8

Ignac Maciejowski, 69-year-old Coleman old-timer, passed away Wednesday evening, March 8th following a period of ill health.

Mr. Maciejowski was born in Poland in July of 1892, and came to Coleman in 1928 where he lived until the time of his death.

He worked as a coal miner for Coleman Collieries, retiring from work about ten years ago due to ill health. During the First World War he served with the Austrian and Polish armies, holding the rank of sergeant. He was a member of the Coleman local of the U.M.W.A., the Polish Society, and was of the Catholic Faith.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter and two sons, all in Poland.

Funeral services were conducted from the Holy Ghost Catholic Church in Coleman at 11:00 on Saturday, and interment was made in the Holy Ghost Catholic cemetery. Rev. Denis Fleming of Coleman, officiating.

Pall bearers were from the Polish Society. A Polish Society service and U.M.W.A. service being held at the graveside.

With the report last week that the Oil and Gas Conservation Board have given approval to construction of two gas processing plants at Sentinel, three miles west of Coleman, indications are that work is to commence in the immediate future on the erection of the plants. Enquiries for homes, rooms and other necessities have already been made by advance personnel of parties concerned.

Clearance was given on Friday, March 13, to go ahead with the plants, which will give the Crows Nest Pass a much needed boost since mines here have suspended operations, and others are working on part-time basis.

The two units to be built at Sentinel in the Pass will cost in the neighborhood of $11,600,000.00, and will be owned by Jefferson Lake Petroleum of Canada Ltd., and Saratoga Processing Company Ltd. The latter plant will process the raw gas and Jefferson's plant will take charge of extracting the sulphur.

The raw gas will be drawn from Savanna Creek well, north of Coleman, and work is yet to be done on clearing the right-of-way for the pipeline to this area. It is expected that this work will start in the near future.

A very successful evening was held and enjoyed by all.

Well Known Horse Arrives In Coleman

We are proud to announce that the thoroughbred stallion "Temoc" loaned to us by the Canadian Hunter and Light Horse Improvement Society, has finally arrived.

It was a bright and much-loved forward-to-day when we picked up "Tim" at the C.P.R. station.

There were many horse lovers to greet our dear friend and too we all weren't musical — it would have made a fetching band.

Bred and raised by the Valinda Farms Inc., in Houston, Texas, this stallion is the product of intense and Domino breeding, the famous undefeated sprinter on whose epitaph these words are carved: "Here lies the fleetest runner the American turf has ever known, and one of the gamest and most generous of horses."

With such boastful names as Commando, Ultimus, High Time and many others, "Tim" most certainly has the Domino strain woven through his pedigree like a golden thread.

Loaned to us for the purpose of making it possible for everyone to render his service at a ridiculous low fee, and to enable the breeder to "up" his grade of foals, we believe he is that wonderful opportunity a lot of us have been waiting for.

The 16-hand-high, affectionate bundle of vitality we call "Tim" is seal brown weighing somewhere in the 1200 pound bracket. He transmits his good conformation to his offspring, hence his foals are eligible for Hunter registration after their inspection of their three-year-old year.

An interesting thing about "Tim" is that he looks and acts like any mischievous youngster, — playing with our foal and frisking on cool mornings. Obviously he ignores his birth certificate which claims that he is eighteen years "young" this year.

Your inquiries are invited and he can be seen in East Coleman at South and Molly Michalsky's.

P.S.—Bring a lump of sugar.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

Too Many Victories

"What Labor is chiefly suffering from today is too many victories," writes Henry Hazlitt in a Newsweek article. "It is no mere coincidence," he continues, "that unemployment now is highest in lines in which wage rates are highest. As compared with average wages of $2.30 an hour in all manufacturing industries, wages in automobile plants are $2.87 an hour, in steel mills $3.02, in bituminous coal mines $3.27."

What appears to be happening, however, is that unions are gaining more and more money for fewer and fewer workers, working fewer and fewer hours. In an effort to help those who are employed, the various governments pump more and more money into the country's economic system. Because this causes inflation, the unions demand a further increase in wages and the process begins all over again.

Says Hazlitt, "There is a perpetual and increasingly desperate race between the printing press and the union demands."

Can this process go on and on?

Possibly, as a process, it can continue for some years, because those who inaugurate these wage drives are relatively free from the results. Rank and file union members, however, do suffer. First and most noticeably, they suffer from lay-offs, when business finds it difficult to sell the goods produced at such high cost. Second - and less obviously - they suffer along with the rest of us from the general slowdown in the economy, the higher prices, the enormous tax rates which must be imposed on those working to support many unemployed.

Eventually, rank and file union members will demand changes in the policies being followed by their leaders. As yet they do not seem to understand what is happening to them.

Hit most painfully are the old age pensioners, or retired persons living on dollars earned when dollars were worth much more. Their dollars have been cut in half by our inflated prices!

If this is true, why is nothing done about it? Obviously, governments fear the power of union labor and consider it politically dangerous to oppose their demands.

Companies are unable or unwilling to resist the unions, because one by one they can be struck or slowed down. Ordinary citizens often refrain from criticizing unions for fear of being called reactionaries or anti-labor fanatics.

What's to come of it all? Who knows? - Whatever does happen, ten to one it will be blamed on business.

Amendment To The Public Welfare Act

A new concept has been introduced in Alberta's social welfare program, the Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, Minister of Public Welfare, announced today.

An amendment to The Public Welfare Act, effective June 1, 1961 institutes a program of Social Allowances which will enable the Department to grant material assistance according to the need of an individual.

A Social Allowance may be paid to a person who—by reason of age, or by reason of physical or mental ill health or physical or mental incapacity that is likely to continue for more than ninety days, is unable to earn an income sufficient to pay for the basic necessities of himself and his dependents, if any, or to a person who, being a mother having custody of and personally caring for her dependent child or children, is unable to earn an income sufficient to pay for the basic necessities of herself and her dependents.

The plan will have two major effects. It will gradually merge the four provincial pension programs of Mothers' Allowance, Widows' Pensions, Disabled Persons' Pensions and Supplementary Allowances into the one new program.

It will also relieve municipal welfare authorities of those cases who were formerly their responsibilities, but who may now be eligible for social allowances.

The present provincial pension legislation will remain in effect for any recipient of these programs who may not wish to transfer to social allowances.

However, amending legislation will preclude further applications to the four provincial programs.

The federal-provincial programs of Old Age Assistance, Blind Persons Allowance and Disabled Persons Allowance will remain unchanged.

In addition, the Minister noted its effect on child welfare.

It is apparent that some children have been apprehended as neglected children who have reached this point in part at least through physical need in the parental home.

The new program should thus have a desirable effect in reducing the number of children coming into care. They will be kept in their family environment and do so with less expenditure of public funds.

Details of the program have been worked out with the co-operation of the Federal Department of National Health and Welfare, who will be sharing the costs under Unemployment Assistance Agreement.

Those persons in receipt of assistance from the Department and who will be affected by the amendment will be visited by a worker from their Regional Office to explain the change. They should not be concerned, however, as they are assured there will be no obligation for them to change from their present program with its present benefits.

Good Basic Bungalow Plan Provides Maximum Living Area

A combined living-dining room with windows looking both to the garden and the street adds spaciousness to this house. The open planning of the kitchen, dining and living area makes each of these rooms appear larger than they actually are.

Ample cupboard space has been provided in the kitchen, which is convenient to both the dining room and rear service entrance. Laundry and heating facilities in the basement have been grouped around the stairs leaving a large area which may be used as a playroom.

The floor area is 1,013 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 41 feet, eight inches by 24 feet, four inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 231, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Czech delegation in Canada

OTTAWA, Ont.—A six-man delegation from Czechoslovakia, winding up a three-week visit to Canada, announced that it has purchased 100,000 bushels of flax seed, 100 tons of hybrid corn, 50 tons of alfalfa seed, 2,000 baby chicks and 30 Holstein heifers and one bull.

Indications were that there may be more business between the two countries.

Frantisek Kord, vice-minister of Agriculture for Czechoslovakia, said the group was attracted by other Canadian agricultural products and that, depending on the outcome of these trial purchases "we might buy more".

He described the visit here as interesting, useful and fruitful, and he suggested that both countries have something to learn from each other.

The Czechoslovakians conferred, while here, with Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton and senior officials of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

This was the second round of talks at Ottawa. The Czechoslovakians were greeted by Canada Department of Agriculture officials on September 30, after arriving at Montreal a few days earlier. Purchases were made during a tour of southern Ontario.

The tour, arranged by the agriculture department, took in Kemptonville, Belleville, Oshawa and the Toronto area, Guelph, Kitchener, Galt, London, Chatham, Blenheim, Harrow and Walkerville.

Other members of the delegation include experts in animal production, corn production and agricultural mechanization, an agricultural economist and a director of a state farm.

Two of the group visited Western Canada and were interested in the cattle ranch operations. They were surprised to find that cattle winter on the range provided with protection from the wind and that they find their own feed through the snow. They also inspected irrigation projects and watched sugar beet harvesting.

"We know your agricultural efficiency is on a high level and that the quality of your agricultural products is excellent" commented Jaroslav Mersl, commercial consul, Montreal. "If conditions are satisfactory, it is possible we will come again and buy."

The chicks were flown to Czechoslovakia and the rest were shipped by boat.

Dentists do prescribe fluorine

Dentists do prescribe fluorine says D. A. Cheetham, D.D.S., chairman of the Fluorine committee of the Grey Bruce and Dufferin Dental Society in Ontario.

Replying to critics who say: "If fluorine is so effective why do the dentists not prescribe it?"

Dr. Cheetham said in the first place there is no question of the effectiveness of fluorine in reducing tooth decay. This fact has been thoroughly investigated and has been endorsed by all leading health authorities in Canada and United States.

He added that dentists prescribe fluorine in various forms, including its use as washes to be applied to the teeth and in tooth paste. However, Dr. Cheetham said these methods are much more costly and much less effective than having fluorine added to the municipal water system.

Meanwhile the Health League of Canada announces that Rosthern and T. Dale in Saskatchewan and Burns Lake, Campbell River and Lake Cowichan in British Columbia have started fluoridating their water supplies, bringing to 74 the number of Canadian communities using artificial fluoridation.

Yes, good things do happen . . .

After reading the dailies, listening to the radio news broadcasts and viewing the horror of television coverage of crime, one would not think there is much in the way of good news in our country.

But good things do happen. For instance:

There are more than 2,300,000 teen-agers and youths in Canada who will not be involved in police cases this year.

More than 4,700,000 children under 15 will not lose their lives in fire.

Some 3,400,000 couples will stay more or less happily married during the year.

The department of National Revenue will find that 3,000,000 income tax returns for the year will be filed correctly.

The list is endless — things are not always as bad as the headlines would at times suggest.

Good things happen in abundance, too.

LOSER BOTH WAYS

"Would you advise me to marry a beautiful girl or a sensible girl?" to marry either, old man."

"Why not?"

"Well, a beautiful girl could do better, and sensible girl would know better!"

WHEN FARMING WAS BEASTLY

The trouble with plowing by beast power, back in the days of primitive man, was that usually man's muscles gave out before the beast's.

Since then we have learned to harness more manageable sources of power to do our plowing and other work, and our standard of living has never been higher.

Today Canadian farmers rely on petroleum-powered horsepower rather than animal power, and Canadian farms are among the most efficient in the world. Canadian farmers can depend on oil supplies wherever and whenever they need them — and at reasonable prices. The price Imperial receives for tractor gasoline has gone down, rather than up, over the past ten years.

Festival Dates Are Set

The Crows Nest Pass Musical Festival committee met on Wednesday evening when plans were finalized for the events program. The three-day musical event, which draws contestants from all over Southern Alberta and British Columbia, is to be held in the Auditorium of the Isabelle Sellon High School on March 27, 28 and 29. The committee have completed arrangements to have Lloyd Powell of Vancouver, B. C., as the adjudicator.

Cancer Workshop April 6th

Mrs. Helen Nedd, president and secretary-treasurer Phyllis Jones, of Coleman of the Crows Nest Pass Cancer Society, have announced this week that plans are now underway to hold a Cancer Workshop for the Pass area on Thursday, April 6th.

The Workshop will be held in the Coleman Catholic hall and will be an afternoon and evening affair. The general public and all interested persons are urged to attend this Workshop.

Any questions regarding Cancer or the work of the Cancer Society may be brought up at the Workshop and those present will all be possible to satisfy any questions brought to their attention.

Arrangements have been made to have Miss Anne McGuire, R.N., nursing consultant, of Calgary, and Field Secretary F. J. Norris, also of Calgary, present at the Workshop to give lectures and show films regarding Cancer and the work of the Society.

Afternoon and evening sessions will be held in order that a good turnout will be present for the Workshop. A lunch is also to be served.

The Workshop held in the Pass last year was very poorly attended and it is hoped that this year a large turnout will be on hand to learn more about Cancer and the fine work that the Society is doing. A Cancer Fund Campaign will get underway in the Pass the week following the Workshop.

Sunday, April 9th will also be recognized as Cancer Sunday.

YOUR FILM FORUM

(By Clayton Bricker)

For your programs in March, contact Mr. R. H. Crabb, Custodian, Variety Shop, Blairmore, Alberta. Phone 2238.

City of Time—16 mins., Color:

A portrait of Venice which explores the rich legacy of art which this ancient city of the Doges has bequeathed to all men. This film combines two views of the city—the picture presented in the paintings of the Venetian school and the city as it is today in actuality.

The Decision—30 mins., B&W:

A dramatic exposition of a conflict that is becoming increasingly evident on the Canadian rural scene. Under the pressures of rising prices, competitive markets, higher production costs, more and more farmers are being forced to abandon their traditional ways of farming as a way of life for one that places it on the level of business.

Money In Your Pocket—25 mins., Color:

The art of making paper currency is shown, from the transfer of designs onto metal to the final printing of bills on specially prepared paper. The fate of worn-out bills of all denominations is shown in the counting rooms and incinerators of the Bank of Canada.

Introducing Canada—22 mins., B&W:

Canada in profile, presented as a young and vigorous nation advancing to a full realization of her vast natural and human resources.

Town Planning—15 mins., B&W:

A graphic illustration of how the science of town planning can be directed toward the re-planning of a city grown at random so that mistakes of the past may be corrected and a result achieved in which business residential and industrial areas are properly zoned.

March, 1961, Red Cross Month

Neighbor Helping Neighbor

Researchers have come up with the somewhat astounding fact that about 17,000 persons are involved to produce a simple can of peas on the table of the consumer.

This is a striking example of how interdependent members of our community have become since the days not so many generations ago when one's mere existence depended upon self-resourcefulness, and two industrious hands.

Interdependence affects the rural and urban dweller alike, it extends not only to the numerous things we eat, drink, wear and use every day but to such matters as our health and the general well-being of the community as a whole.

The free Blood Transfusion Service of the Canadian Red Cross is demonstrative of this interdependence. It was founded 14 years ago on the idea that we should give our blood freely as blood donors and receive blood freely when we or others need it.

It makes eminent good sense, and is a concrete example of the tangible way in which neighbor can help neighbor following the basic Red Cross principle for all its services in the community, the nation and the world.

As many thousands of grateful patients who have received "The Gift of Life" from their neighbors will testify, this free service of the Canadian Red Cross is an essential which we can ill afford to curtail. It is dependent for its continued success upon the half-million and more Canadians who willingly give their blood every year to save the lives of others and the financial support of every citizen.

It should be apparent that it takes money as well as blood to carry out this vital function of your Red Cross for the benefit of all. It is a matter of record that nearly 40 cents of every campaign dollar contributed to the Canadian Red Cross in 1959 went to support the free blood transfusion service.

During March, Red Cross month in Canada, we are all asked to further this support when another neighbor—a Red Cross volunteer canvasser—calls at our door.

When the individual needs blood he is dependent upon the Red Cross free blood transfusion service, its faithful blood donors, its financial supporters who generously give their dollars to carry on this vital service.

Let us all help our Red Cross to continue its mission of mercy by giving to the best of our means.

Catastrophe, or 'Nuclear Excursion'

At the beginning of this year, January 3rd, in the vicinity of Idaho Falls, an accident occurred in U.S.A. army reactor. By some reason the radiation was escaping from uranium container, which contaminated the building and reactor.

As the result of that, the three soldiers who had been working that night, have been killed and amongst them was one named John A. Burns, age 27, an army specialist.

Fortunately the accident occurred at night and spared the lives of sixty men who had been scheduled to work the next day shift.

Due to extreme heat and radiation three bodies were recovered three days later, with enormous effort of the rescue crew.

But they have been impregnated with strong radiation. In order to prevent radiation from the body of Burns, the casket was set into a lead-lined box, overlaid with one foot thick of concrete and covered with three feet thick soil.

The "unexpected" escape of radiation scientists branded as "nuclear excursion" which was the worst catastrophe ever known.

Comparing the above incident with the danger of possible nuclear war, we could realize how miserably inadequate would be our proposed bomb shelters.

For that reason humanity should make all efforts to maintain world peace and first step towards it a total and complete disarmament. S. Malanchuk.

Care for your typewriter

Does your household boast a typewriter? Whether it's an ancient standard model, or the very latest in portables, whether it's occasionally unearthed to type a letter, or used every day by the student in the family, that typewriter deserves a little attention that will keep it running smoothly.

When not in use your typewriter should always be covered to keep out dust that will clog the machine and hinder operation. If your machine has a case, use it. If there is no cover for it, make one from a sheet of clear plastic.

When making an erasure, always blow the bits of rubber out of the machine, and use the small brush that comes with most machines to keep the workings clear of dust and eraser bits. This stiff brush, used on type bars, will give a clearer, sharper type.

It's especially important to keep your typewriter out of the reach of the small fry who love to push the keys down. This can bend the keys, or even break them off.

Whether you use your typewriter a great deal or not you should take it to your dealer for cleaning every three years. Leaving it longer can result in annoying difficulties and if your machine becomes very dirty, it may require a steam bath which is more expensive than regular cleaning.

Why not be sure your typewriter is used often? Write to your favorite radio station, newspaper editor, or politician. If we are to retain our free way of life in the face of threats from other systems, we must speak up for it.

And often—the pen (or typewriter) is mightier than the sword!
